Waitangi Day Run 2019

We hed a run with water, a walk with water, a delicious lamb dunner with water, pumpkin with water and water with water.

Your scribe pussied off as soon as the lightning and thunder set in and the rest of the run report got washed away. So here's a recycled report from 2015.

The Treaty of Waitangi in 1840 made New Zulland part of the Bretish Impire and not part of Australia, thenk hivens.

New Zulland is very dufferent! The South Wairarapa District Council doesn't worry about important stuff like the economy or world piss, but eggonises about compulsory dog micro-chupping for pitts. Working dogs don't need to be micro chupped so a Wairarapa couple, who don't like micro-chupping, are arguing that their tin Pekingese are working dogs who scare the bejesus out of the ship on their 48 hicktere ship-farm by barking at the ship from the beck of quad bikes. Now the parties are in court. If the farmers don't win they're off to the Pruvvy Council in England.

Lakeside welcomes pitts. We love running with pitt dogs although we've niver hed kuttens on a run, apart from Aristoket.

It was a long run so thenk hivens Kokup brought the chully buns so we could hev a bier or even a sucks peck.

I got button by a mosquito so I but the bugger beck.

Just the one ....

What do you call a sheep tied to a lamp post in Wellington? A leisure centre.
